Browner Joins Advisory Board of Dental Recycling International, Inc.

April 14, 2014, New York, NY: Dental Recycling International, Inc. (DRI) is proud to welcome Carol Browner to its Advisory Board. In her new position as DRI Chairperson, Ms. Browner will help guide the company as it pursues its global business initiatives.

“We are pleased to welcome a global energy and environmental leader like Carol Browner to our company leadership,” said Marc M. Sussman, DRI President & CEO. “Carol has built a successful career working at the intersection of policy and regulation and working with businesses to achieve groundbreaking public health, environmental and energy standards. We look forward to her leadership and working with her as the chairperson of DRI’s advisory board.”

In speaking about her new role, Ms. Browner commended DRI’s recent efforts and its plans for the future.

“DRI is ensuring that environmental stewardship becomes an integral component to the practice of dental medicine. Through its outreach, DRI is working to safeguard the health and integrity of local environments across the globe. Its collaborative venture in Africa with the United Nations Environment Programme and FDI World Dental Federation attest to this,” Browner said. “DRI’s waste management services, educational tools, and technologies are working to prevent harmful mercury from polluting water supplies, threatening air quality, and adversely effecting human health. Through its strategic partnerships, pragmatic business approaches, and commitment to sustainable growth, DRI is on track to becoming the global leader in dental waste management.”
